PRESS RELEASE

We create brands that taste good

OBERHACHING, October 2023

Tomatoes, tuna and more: Paul M. Müller is THE expert in food wholesale. But Paul M. Müller is also: a company that develops strong brands together with its customers and puts them on the shelves and in the refrigerator.

With its own brands such as ADRIA, Paolo Rossi and AVANTI, Paul M. Müller has often proven how to successfully establish food on the market. With great expertise in procurement, quality, logistics, design and marketing, Paul M. Müller also helps other companies to professionally implement their food ideas. Whether it's cans, jars, canisters or pouches - Paul M. Müller is your reliable partner, step by step, from the very first idea.

His large network of producers, manufacturers and suppliers, on which the company has built for many decades, is also helpful. The perfect look ensures packaging design that is in line with the market. Sales and marketing are also part of the master plan, so that the right target group, suitable sales sources and effective marketing campaigns are found. All in all: a 360-degree all-round carefree package to think outside the box and successfully position yourself in the food market with new ideas and products.
