

The new UNDA - Safe the Oceans Edition

Save the oceans

The UNDA multifunctional bottle stands for Zero Waste and has set itself the goal of protecting the oceans from disposable bottles and other waste. The new "SAFE THE OCEANS EDITION" is to make a concrete contribution. That's why Stephan Mangold, founder of the Berlin-based greentech start-up UNDA, teamed up with designer with designer Steffen Kraft from Wiesbaden, who is behind the behind the artist brand Iconeo. What connects the two? The motto "Doing good together together"! And the good in this case is the limited edition "Safe the Oceans". Because from the proceeds UNDA supports the work of the green start-up "Everwave" with 2 EUR the work of the green start-up "Everwave". The The environmentalists have set themselves the task of removing to remove rubbish and plastic from oceans and rivers worldwide. rivers. Everyone who buys a sustainable UNDA helps to remove 2 kilos of plastic and rubbish from the oceans and not only not only for a healthy environment, but also protects animals but also protects animals threatened by rubbish and plastic.

Translated with DeepL