lionelo care offers products that enhance parents' independence, comfort, and mobility. These products are specifically designed to support caregivers in their daily tasks, whether it is feeding, meal preparation, or caring for their little ones. Among our varied offerings, customers will find traditional and innovative hands-free breast pumps, as well as baby monitors, baby scales, and bottle warmers. Our commitment to continuous growth motivates us to consistently broaden our product range, ensuring that we cater to the needs of parents.

Innovative hands-free breast pump

Fidi Free, one of the most popular products in our range, allows for efficient hands-free milk expression. This breast pump operates in two phases: it begins with a gentle massage to stimulate milk production before transitioning to the actual milk collection process. Five intensity levels enable customisation of settings to accommodate specific needs. Fidi Free prioritises the comfort of breastfeeding women. Thanks to its long-lasting battery and minimal noise, this breast pump allows you to chat or enjoy a film while using it. To further enhance the user experience, the device comes with three different funnel sizes, enabling precise adjustment for a comfortable fit. Our breast pump has also received a recommendation from a midwife.

Easier expansion of your baby's diet with BabyMenu

BabyMenu is an appliance designed to handle meal preparation for children comprehensively. It combines blending and steaming functions, and it can also serve as a traditional warmer. The appliance will be particularly useful when you start introducing more foods to your baby's diet.

Thanks to the steaming option meals will retain their nutritional value. Parents are free to adjust the level of steaming to meet their individual needs. Specially designed blades allow for efficient and rapid blending of prepared products. The built-in warmer efficiently heats bottles or jars and includes defrosting and sterilisation functions. With just one appliance, a parent can prepare even more complex meals.

Products offered by lionelo are designed to provide comprehensive support to parents in every situation. Our product range also features child car seats, strollers, travel cots, and high chairs – and more.
