

Over 35 Years of Experience, a Family Legacy, and Environmental Care

Founded more than 35 years ago, DIAVENA was one of the first private companies in Bulgaria specializing in canned fish production. Today, the company is run by the third generation of the founding family, continuing its legacy while investing in modern technologies and sustainable practices.

One of the company's most significant achievements is the construction of a solar power facility, which now generates a large portion of the electricity needed for production. This step reduces the company's carbon footprint and demonstrates that the food industry can be modern, profitable, and environmentally responsible simultaneously.

Quality is the cornerstone of DIAVENA's philosophy – from the careful selection of raw materials to strict production standards and employee engagement. Every stage of the process is designed to ensure safety, taste, and preservation of nutritional value.

“We believe that true success is not measured only in market share but also in trust. That is why we invest equally in people, technology, and the community we are part of,” the management of DIAVENA states.
